We Need Your Voice

South Dakota's cattle industry is strongest when we stand together. The South Dakota Cattlemen's Association (SDCA) works every day to protect producers, strengthen our industry, and address issues impacting the cattle business.

Your membership gives you a voice. When you join SDCA, you're claiming your seat at the table where decisions are made. Together, we advance the interests of cattlemen and women and build opportunities for the next generation of ranchers with policy created by cattlemen, for cattlemen.

SDCA's strength comes from our members. Every member's voice adds momentum. We are committed to working for you and defending the future of South Dakota's cattle industry, but we can't do it alone. Join SDCA today and stand with fellow producers to keep our industry strong for generations to come.
